

UDNY GREEN KIRK

For more than 200 years, Udney Green Kirk has stood at the heart of village life as a place of gathering, celebration and remembrance.

Built in 1821 and designed by Aberdeen architect John Smith, the kirk is defined by its architectural character, peaceful atmosphere and connection to generations of regional history.

Today, it is carefully preserved and continues to welcome people through life's most significant moments.

SUPPORT THE KIRK

Historic buildings are best preserved when they continue to be used.

By choosing Udney Green Kirk for an occasion, visiting or donating, you are helping to care for an important part of Aberdeenshire's architectural and cultural heritage.

Your support allows the kirk to continue welcoming people, celebrating local culture and remaining part of village life for generations to come.

THANK YOU FOR SUPPORTING THE FUTURE OF UDNY GREEN KIRK.

A SENSE OF PLACE

Set beside the village green and close to the historic Udney Castle, the kirk sits within the quiet beauty of the Aberdeenshire countryside.

The surrounding village, gardens and rural landscape create a setting that feels peaceful and secluded while remaining conveniently accessible.

Udney Green lies between the traditional market towns of Ellon and Inverurie and is within easy reach of Aberdeen and Aberdeen International Airport.
