

UDNY GREEN KIRK

Set beside the village green, Udney Green Kirk has stood at the heart of community life since 1821 as a place of gathering, celebration and remembrance.

Designed by Aberdeen architect John Smith, the kirk is distinguished by its Tudor Gothic character, peaceful setting and enduring connection to local life.

Today, it has been carefully restored for a new chapter - welcoming people once more for life's most meaningful moments.

THE FUTURE OF UDNY GREEN KIRK

Historic buildings are best preserved when they continue to be used.

By visiting, choosing Udney Green Kirk for an occasion or making a donation, you are helping us care for an important part of Aberdeenshire's architectural and cultural heritage.

Your support helps the Kirk remain a place for gathering, local culture and village life for generations to come.

THANK YOU FOR SUPPORTING
UDNY GREEN KIRK.

A SENSE OF PLACE

Set beside the village green and close to the historic Udney Castle, the kirk sits within the quiet beauty of the Aberdeenshire countryside.

The surrounding village, gardens and rural landscape create a setting that feels peaceful and secluded while remaining conveniently accessible.

Udney Green lies between the traditional market towns of Ellon and Inverurie and is within easy reach of Aberdeen and Aberdeen International Airport.
